Boombox AOR City: New Jersey Country: USA Posts: 98 📅 17/02/2012 2:18:10	Sunstorm - Emotional Fire Have been looking forward to this release for a couple of months now, was going to order it tomorrow... then I came upon this review on Rocktopia (Fireworks mag website): http://www.rocktopia.co.uk/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=1970:sunstorm-emotional-fire&catid=910:cd-reviews&Itemid=121 From what I was able to gather from the article, apparently JLT was "on the road" and so did not include much or any of his own material... instead we are treated to Michael Bolton and Cher standards, with songwriting by Desmond Child and Diane Warren. Dennis Ward still produces, but no Jim Peterik on this one, I fear. I think I shall "wait and see" before I lay out my $/€'s for this one. Your thoughts? 🗳 Black Roses - Paradise

Only three tracks are old tracks, two that Michail Bolton recorded and one that Cher laid down. The other tracks are made up of songs written by the in house Frontiers writers like the Martin Bros etc, so don't worry. I think this is the best I've heard JLT sing in quite a while and whilst it won't break and records for being original, it still is a very good album.

gerasczman  City: AOR Prog Planet Country: Greece Posts: 1807  7/03/2012 22:39:11	After many listens, I still find "Emotional Fire" very good, also it has the most beautiful artwork of all 3 Sunstorm albums. There are no fillers in sight, all the songs are very good, but what I'm missing here is some truly outstanding songs. Songs like the eternal classics "Street Of Dreams", "Stone Cold", "Tearing Out My Heart", "Rising Force" or "Dreaming". The voice of JLT is still strong, but it has become more rough..missing that special smoothness like on the songs mentioned. Still a very good and enjoyable AOR/Melodic Hard Rock Album...better than "House Of Dreams"...I agree with Yngwie. Let's see what H.E.A.T has to offer next. Another great hope for the AOR/Melodic Hard Rock scene of 2012. The first samples are very good! 🔊 H.E.A.T. - Living On The Run
